BLAME BUSINESSMEN FOR CLUTTERED CONDITION AT THE TOP-OF-THE-HILL

A call on local merchants to clean up the top-of-the-hill was made today by City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Andersen was replying to recent editorials in THE RECORD which have pointed out the dirt and filth long associated with the main Daly City business district.

"This is certainly no fault of the city," Andersen declared. "We clean up the main street every morning, but by 10 o'clock it is littered with rubbish and waste certain merchants sweep out of their stores.

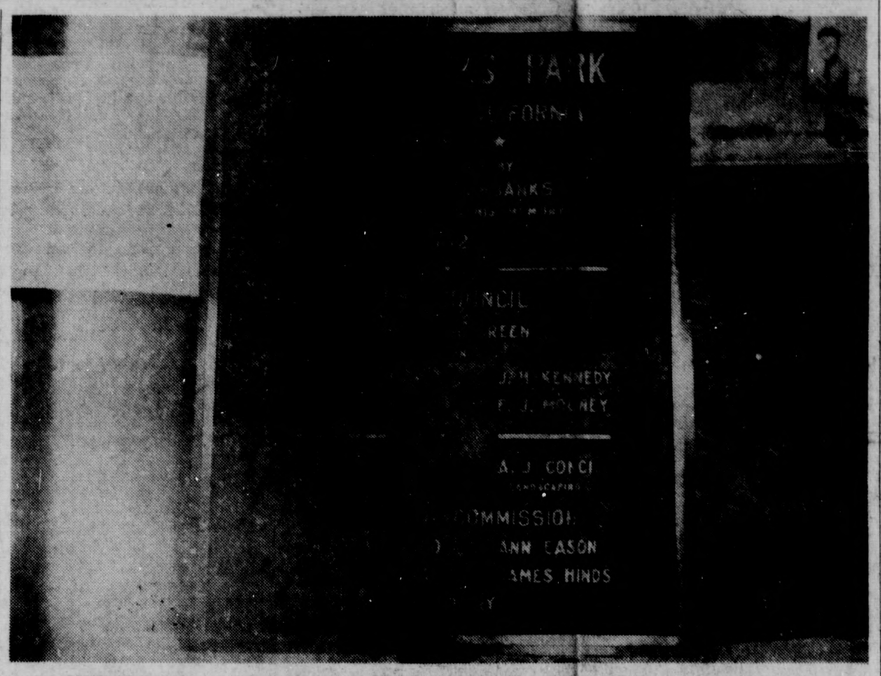
"This is working a hardship on all the businesmen, as it makes the top-of-the-hill a very unattractive place to shop. I believe the local merchants should get together and do a bit of housecleaning."

Indicating he would resort to more than just words, Andersen said when Police Chief Roland Petrocchi returns from vacation he will ask the city council to instruct him to take "the appropriate action."

In addition to the menace of rubbish, Andersen says he will also ask the Chief to enforce an ordinance to eliminate merchants from extensive use of sidewalks for displaying merchandise and taking in supplies.

"The sidewalks are cluttered to such an extent that it is necessary to walk single file past many of the business houses," Andersen stated.

Neither Andersen nor the council wish to appear arbitrary, the city administrator said, but some action is necessary to beautify the city.



ON THIS PLAQUE are the names of the men who must be given credit for the recreation program here. Reading from top to bottom are the names of the city council: Mayor Paul Green, Fred Bertetta, A. J. Gaggero, J. H. Kennedy and E. J. Mooney; City Engineer R. A. Klassen; A. J. Conci, gardener and landscape artist; Recreation Commission—Edmund Cavagnaro, Edward Dennis, Ann Eason, James Hinds and George Pingry. BUT WHERE IS THE NAME OF ELMAN ROSE, director of recreation?

Has The City Forgotten A Name In Bronze?

Deep in the basement of city hall rest seven bronze plaques which proudly proclaim the names of the gentlemen credited for the new parks and Community Center building.

With this time honored procedure of public officials patting themselves on the back we have no quarrel. We are amazed, however, at the particular selection of names; and more specifically at the lack of one extremely important name.

Reading from top to bottom we find mention of the city council, the recreation commission and the city gardener.

Nowhere do we find the very important name of the man who has stood for Mr. Recreation for the past four years...Elman Rose, director of recreation.

Perhaps this was a simple oversight on the part of the council. This is the charitable view of the situation, but possibly not a realistic one.

There has been more than a little friction between certain members of the city council and Mr. Rose for a good many years. Rose, prompted in his actions by the single desire to improve the recreation system here, often ran headlong into councilmen more anxious to grab glory and hold control of a politically rich plum.

And while we believe the council and city gardener deserve liberal credit, we fail to see why their names should supersede that of Mr. Rose.

It is hoped the council will rectify this petty error before the plaques are actually put out in the parks. Should this mistake go unrectified the plaques surely will prove a lasting monument to the extent politics can pervert the humanitarian efforts of public minded citizens.

Autos, Firecrackers Up Holiday Accident Toll In Daly City

Firecrackers and that deadliest of all weapons—the automobile—kept accident reports high in Daly City over the long Fourth of July weekend.

The firecracker incident occurred at aprpoximately 3 p. m. on the Fourth when eight-year-old Paulette Kelling, 1735 Louvaine drive, Colma, suffered a minor injury of the eye as a firecracker exploded near her face. She was treated at Junipero Serra hospital and released.

Car Drops

Most serious of the weekend accidents involved Albert Boscacci, 236 Abbott street, Daly City. According to police, Boscacci was working on his car at his home.

Trying to put in the clutch, he raised the car by rope while he worked underneath. While he was under the car the rope snapped and the car dropped on him. He was taken to Junipero Serra hospital for emergency treatment of a fractured skull, injured chest and multiple contusions of the head and face.

In an automobile accident at the intersection of Lowell and Bellevue streets, Mrs. Gloria Andersen, 22, of 381 Winchester street, Daly City and Robert G. Strunk of San Francisco suffered minor injuries.

City Council To Hold Regular Meeting Monday

The regular meeting of the city council will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, July 14 in City Hall.

Principal discussion will center around pending improvements for the Community Center building.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Plan Sidewalks Near Colma School

Sidewalks, sewers and other improvements for two blocks of Hillside boulevard between Price and Market streets were discussed by the city council at their regular caucus meeting Monday evening.

City engineer Ed Smith presented specifications for the job and reported it is all ready to go when the state gives the green light. The state must approve the project as a proportion of the cost will be born by the department of highways.

Parents of children attending Colma school have been calling for sidewalks on this street, as it is a main thoroughfare for students.

The council also hashed over several names submitted for the three-man fire commission and five-man planning commission. However, no decision was reached

City Replies To Auxiliary Policeman's Charge Of Civil Defense Lag Here

Dismissed as "unwarranted" by the city council at their regular caucus meeting Monday night was a charge of laxity here in the civilian defense effort.

The allegation was made last week by a member of the Daly City auxiliary police force who wished to remain unidentified. The officer specifically said the council had failed to extend the support and cooperation needed to foster a workable auxiliary police unit. He went on to include the whole civilian defense effort here as "a farce."

Reply

City Administrator Dan Andersen was quick to reply on behalf of the council this week:

"I believe the fault is as much that of the auxiliary as of anyone. Some two or three weeks ago I asked them to go out and get estimates for uniforms. I still have to receive a reply.

"As for the civilian defense effort, the city is doing everything it can, working as it must with a limited amount of funds and an apparent lack of interest by the majority of citizens."

Work Starts On Reducing Valve

With promise of completion before the month is out, the Associated Engineering Company this week began work on a water reduction valve in Westlake.

The underground system, to go in just east of the Westlake Property Owners Association temporary clubhouse on Alemany extension, will cut down water pressure from local wells. High pressure has resulted in numerous blowouts in pipes and forced Daly City to purchase San Francisco water for the Westlake section.

Another blowout, possibly the last, was recorded at Maddux and Fairlawn last Sunday morning. However, as this was in an undeveloped section of the tract only three homes were without water during the day, A. J. Bodien, works superintendent reported.

RED ROUTE HEARING SLATED THIS EVENING

Two important meetings of local interest are scheduled for this evening, July 10.

At 8 p.m. the Jefferson elementary school board will hear any protests to abandoning White street in favor of the "red route" from Broadmoor to Westlake. Some objection is expected as this new connecting road will mean moving two Broadmoor homes.

Place of the hearing is at the Administration building, 344 Santa Barbara avenue.

Also, the Broadmoor Property Owners board of directors are to meet in their clubhouse for a discussion of transportation and other problems. Time of this meeting is 8 p.m.

Civil Defense Broadcast Slated

A realistic civilian defense broadcast will be heard over major bay area radio stations this weekend, it was announced today.

"Disaster Street" is a broadcast taped during rescue operations at the federal civil defense western training school at St. Mary's college. It will describe the actual demolition of buildings and the complex rescue operations.

The following stations will carry the program: Saturday—KGO, 10:45 a. m.; KNBC, 12:15 p. m.; KJBS, 8 p. m.; Sunday—KSAN, 6:30 p. m.

Closed Door Meet Decision Reached

Vacillating between recreation and the need for educational facilities, the city council finally took the big plunge Monday night and ruled out the Community Center building for classrooms.

This decision was first published in THE RECORD June 12, but was met with bitter cries of denial from several city councilmen.

How the councilmen voted on the final decision will ever remain a mystery as the axe was lowered on the proposed four to six classrooms at a closed caucus meeting.

Mayor Paul Green delivered the decision to Superintendent of Schools H. Z. Weibel, Wednesday morning.

Reasoning behind the denial was based on two points:

1. The council felt that if the north end of the building was leased to the school district for a year this would hold up the work on completion of the structure. This, of course, is based on the assumption residents will see fit to vote "yes" for a $150,000 bond issue to finish the Center.

Delicate Floor

2. School children, the council reasoned, would play havoc with landscaping plans and according to Green's statement to Weibel would injure the auditorium floor which is "pretty delicate."

Result of this decision will be felt by the whole Jefferson elementary school system this fall.

Weibel reports that now the Community Center has been denied the schools some 220 eighth graders will go on double session. Heretofore the majority of these students have escaped the swing-shift classes in their eighth grade.

Case Stated

When THE RECORD made its first report of the council's decision, Councilman Joseph Verducci stated the case for his colleagues:

"What we must consider here is the welfare of the majority. None of us wish to deny our children the education they need. On the other hand, we are faced with holding up completion of the building, if we turn it over to classrooms at this time.

"It is difficult to decide whether the welfare of a 100 or more students is more important than the crying recreation needs of thousands. At any rate, we shall give it the consideration the problem warrants."

It is known several of the councilmen were hesitant about the adverse decision as they felt it might damage the chances for popular public approval of a second bond issue to finish the building this fall. The first attempt to get through a $160,000 issue for this purpose flopped last year, but only by a narrow margin.

'Death Trap' Lake In Crocker Hills Is Drained Dry

Plan To Pump Water From Citv Fails

The Crocker hills "death trap" lake has been drained.

A. J. Young, Crocker estate official, yesterday told THE RECORD that pumping operations to drain the little lake that claimed two drowned victims in recent weeks begin Tuesday and would be completed by noon yesterday.

Original plans to pump water from Daly City to substitute for the lake water—which was used for crop irrigation—have been scrapped.

Drain On Supply

"We thought we could work out some arrangement with the city to use their water," said Young, "but it seems that the amount of water required would put a serious strain on the city's supply in the summer months."

Original estimate of the amount required to properly irrigate the crops of Laurence Marsili, 38 San Pedro road, who leases the farm from the Crocker organization, was 15,000 gallons a day.

However, Daly City Works Superintendent A. J. Bodien later judged that the actual amount of water required would be closer to 50,000 gallons per day. City officials approved of the former figure but felt that more than that would amount to a serious drain on the city's water supply.

End Lease

"We found that it was easier to all concerned to make arrangements with Mr. Marsili to end his

Milk Price Hike Requested Here

Daly City housewives are faced today with the possibility of another increase in milk prices.

A half-cent a quart boost was requested Wednesday for San Mateo county by the County Milk Distributors' association. The request was made before the state bureau of milk control in Redwood City.

Distributors who were granted a one-half cent a quart boost last September 1, and another one cent raise February 1 contend increased distribution costs necessitate another hike.

Similar hearings were held on Wednesday in Oakland and San Francisco. A decision on the request will be announced from Sacramento in the future.

Under existing price schedules milk is sold to retail stores for 19 cents a quart, to customers for 21½ cents and to home delivery at 22½ cents.

"Spaish Prison" Swindle -- Familiar To Daly City Residents -- Tried Again

The "Spanish prison" swindle, familiar to more than a score of local residents over a period of 10 years, has been tried out on a Belmont doctor.

Diagnosing the swindle letter for what it was the doctor turned it over to Inspector A. L. Lamport of the district attorney's office.

The letter promised the usual . . . a one-third cut of a reported $450,000 locked in a trunk in the United States. Signed only by an "F" the letter is a prototype of several sent to local residents, none of whom (according to the files of the Daly City police department) have fallen for the swindle.

Trust You

The letter read in part: "A person who knows you and who has spoken very highly of you has made me trust you in a delicate matter on which depends the very future of my daughter and my own existence.

"I am in prison, sentenced for bankruptcy. I wish to know if you are willing to help me save the sum of $450,000 which is hidden in a secret compartment of a trunk locked in the United States.

Pay Expenses

"As soon as I send you definite evidence you must come here and pay expenses incurred in getting me out of prison. To compensate for your kind help, I will give you one-third of said sum. Please airmail a reply to Julio Campos, Tapachula, 99, Mexico City, Mexico."

Needless to say the doctor has failed to invest six cents for an airmail stamp.

Community Center Improvements Set

Site Development Bids To Be Called

Depending on the probable amount of money involved, the city council will call for bids Monday night for site development, landscaping and plumbing for the Community Center buidling.

City Administrator Dan Andersen said the preliminary cost estimates will be submitted to the council at the caucus meeting on Monday. He said he had no idea as to what amount to expect.

As the original $295,000 bond money for the Center is exhausted, money for the new work would be taken from the general fund, Andersen declared.

Should the cost estimates prove too much to be handled by the general fund these improvements might have to be held up.

Meanwhile, last week the final bit of paint was applied to the Center and the south wing is tentatively ready for use. However, a heating plant and plumbing is still necessary.

Despite this tapping of the general fund, the council will call for a general bond issue of approximately $150,000 early this fall to complete the Center building. No date for the election has been set.

Independent PO Backed By Demos

County Democratic leaders this week threw their weight behind a measure to bring a local post office to Daly City.

At a meeting of the Democratic Central Committee Tuesday evening delegates unanimously decided to petition the proper authorities for the establishment of a post office here, independent of San Francisco.

The "proper authorities" in this case appear to be the Post Master General and California representatives and senators. The Demos hope one of these gentlemen will be Harold F. Taggart, congressional candidate, come the elections this November.

Meanwhile, on the local stage Michael DeBernardi, prompter for the independent post office here, announced there are now 3,500 signatures on a petition calling for such a move.

"We will submit these names to the local council for their approval in the very near future. It is to be hoped the council will go along with the will of the major-

Daly City Driver's Car Runs Into Girl

A 33-year-old Daly City man was behind the wheel of a car which seriously injured a four-year-old San Francisco girl Tuesday, police reported today.

Injured was Linda Dower of 422 Paris street. She suffered a possible skull fracture when she darted into the path of a car driven by George A. Swett, 189 Westdale avenue, Daly City. The accident occured on Alemany boulevard near Ocean avenue in San Francisco.

The child was taken to San Francisco hospital unconscious.

Swett was not cited by San Francisco police.

News of Your Local Businesses and Business Men

By JANE KEITH

DUBINS, the men's and boys store on Top of the Hill on Mission street is having one of their good, good sales—and Nationally advertised "name brand" broadcloths, Terry cloth and gaucho sport shirts are only a few of the items being sacrificed to make way for new Fall styles.

But, best buy in the store are those slacks by "Day" in fine sharkskin and Dura-gab gabardine at the low, low price of only $6.95! These are "California cut" with continuous waistband and full pleats—and the colors are perfect! Sharkskin is available in tan and grey VERY small pin check, while the gabardines come in heavenly tones of brown, tan, grey and grey-green. These are items to buy now, if you are able—or Lay-away for a later date if cash is short right now! Yes, DUBINS has the Lay-away plan—and also give Thrifty Shopper Stamps for all purchases!

BACON, BEAUTIFUL BACON and rashers and rashers of it—can brighten your breakfasts, luncheons AND dinners without breaking your budget if you shop at the HILLTOP MARKET, on Top of the Hill! HILLTOP'S meat department usually has three grades and kinds of bacon on the counter (not counting the Canadian variety) and believe me, they are all wonderful! Prices—and this is what I mean about being able to eat all you want—start at 29c per pound with some for 49c and some for 59c. Differences are in cut or packaging, but the freshness and flavor of all three kinds are superb! —with the 29c variety leading the field for dinner time eating, for my money and taste preference, at any rate!

Mike Bertolucci, owner of the market along with his partner who runs the New College Hill Market on Mission in San Francisco, also manages to have some of the best weekly meat specials in town—and they run from Thursday to Saturday for your shopping convenience and saving! TRY HILLTOP MARKET THIS WEEK AND SEE HOW YOU SAVE!

GAMBLE'S WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY CO., in the Broadmoor-King's Market shopping center, always manages to have something new and surprising around about the store and the best item this week is a large, galvanized metal "Auto Drip" pan selling for only $2.79! Of course, these were designed to keep your garage floor clean, but couldn't help thinking how wonderful they would be to have around when tinting heavy articles or drying blankets 'n such in the basement—or to use as a one inche deep sand box for the children on rainy or foggy days.

GAMBLE'S also has floor matting for that worn spot in your car at only $1.10 per lineal yard—and with rubber backing, too!

WEITZELS SHOE STORE, and that too is in the Broadmoor-King's center, is having a really bang up sale of women's house slippers at $1.99! These come in a wide variety of styles and sizes while the price is just SO right you couldn't make a mistake!

Beautiful too, at WEITZEL'S, are the men's sale slippers in opera and "mule" styles. These are of leather—they're lovely—and only $4.99!

LESLIE'S, in Broadmoor, have cute as a button nylon gowns in dots or flower prints which are practically a steal at $3.95 and at the same price, for you who prefer cotton, are broad stripe weave, rain colored seersucker with nylon trim. These are real buys for your sleeping pleasure!

STAND-OUT on Junipero Serra Blvd., (1913 Junipero Serra, to be exact—and telephone PLaza 5-1125 for reservations or information), is the new red and green paint job on the CHALET RESTAURANT—a place that gets plenty o fraves from everyone who tries its cuisine! Easy parking here, close to home—but gives you that out of this world feeling...

MILLER'S VARIETY STORE, in Westlake, has lots of new tricks for travelers who have to carry medicines or cosmetics—and dislike using glass. Topping the list is the "Parker" travel flask of pebbled white plastic with chrome sealer and cap. Size is roughly ½ pint, with cap holding about 1 oz. Could carry liquor or mineral oil—or would be wonderful for cough medicines. They also have a full line of opaque plastic bottles in a variety of sizes and shapes (some with gold lids) for holding all types of creams, colognes, etc. These range in price from 19c to 49c...and are wise buys for vacationists or stay at homes...

WESTLAKE HARDWARE has awfully clever "corn servers" at $1.69. Set is a complete service for four with 4 husk colored husk dishes and 8 corn skewers in easy to handle, easy to look at plastic! This store seems to have just about everything you need—or might need, for a barbecue, too!

Like to try something different in the fish line, but maybe don't know what it's like or how to cook it? Well, drop into the TOWN AND COUNTRY MARKET in Westlake and look for BOB PEROTTI, who runs the fish & poultry dept....He's not only a nice guy, but he really knows what he's talking about when you talk his department. He certainly had my mouth watering by the time he finished a graphic description of the toothsome scallop and how it should be fried...Yum, yum!

And LEO MASSAGLIA, meat dept. master at the TOWN AND COUNTRY MARKET, says yes, they always have freshly ground lamb patties for sale and believe me, these are wonderful now, with fresh green peas and little new potatoes—or maybe a tossed green salad with cheese croutons....LEO also carries smoked pork chops (or buy a loin for roasting) and these are really "out of this world"...tasting something like ham, something like fresh pork, but better better than either!

Still harping on food—here's news for "weight watchers" who love ice cream! GODFREY'S ICE CREAM STORE in Westlake has a new high-protein, low calory ice cream called HY-LO which sells for 35c a pint and comes chocolate and vanilla!

Police Arrest Five Here In Stolen Car

Five men were arrested yesterday by Daly City police in a stolen automobile jammed with some $1200 worth of clothing and leather goods reportedly taken from a car in San Francisco.

Officer Edward Hansen of the Daly City police department arrested the five at Thornton beach early yesterday morning when he saw the group and their car while on patrol.

In Bushes

On closer inspection, Hansen found seven suitcases full of the allegedly stolen clothing in the surrounding bushes.

Arrested and held for the FBI and San Francisco police were: Robert B. Tittel, 23, of San Francisco; Alfred S. Stall, 22, of 480 Ellis street, San Francisco; Louis J. Rosner, 23, of the Tiffany hotel, San Francisco; Harold Louie, 23, of 555 O'farrel street, San Francisco; and a 20-year-old Marine allegedly AWOL for 38 days from Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The car had Oregon license plates, said Sgt. Roy Beecher, acting chief of police here, and had been stolen from Colorado.

Tittel, driver of the car, is being held for investigation of violation of the Dyer act, which prohibits transportation of stolen vehicles across state lines.

No Theft Report

Notified that Tittel and Stall had confessed to breaking into a car parked in the Marina district of San Francisco, police there stated they had no complaint as yet of a $1200 clothing theft.

The clothing and leather goods supposedly stolen from Earl Strauss of Marysville, Calif., a salesman for the Western company, were allegedly dumped from the car when Hansen approached, said Sgt. Beecher.

Beecher added that, after questioning the suspects, he believed Tittel and Stall were the principals and the others were merely hitch-hikers.

Two Forfeit Bail On Drunk Charge Here

Two Daly City men forfeited bail yesterday in Judge William Sweeney's municipal court.

Cited to appear on a drunk charge were Benjamin Franklin Nuss, 31 Vendome street, who forfeited $10 bail, and Robert F. Lane, 354 Irvington street, who forfeited a similar amount.

ON HIS WAY TO LOCAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS a few minutes after the fatal shooting of a San Francisco man last Tuesday afternoon is Howard Miller, 34-year-old construction worker. He accompanied Challis Detweiler to Thornton beach where Detweiler was killed by a 22-calibre bullet while sitting in his car. Miller was released. A coroner's inquest has still to determine whether the shooting was an accident or Detweiler committed suicide.

Hidden Name

Andersen questioned, too, why the auxiliary officer refused to let his name be used. "It appears to me, if his beef was legitimate, he would not hesitate to publish his name."

Contacted by THE RECORD today the auxiliary officer said he still wished to remain incognito because "my company frowns on employes mixing in politics." Otherwise, he asserted, he would be glad to use his name if it would mean "improving the situation."

At their regular meeting Tuesday evening the auxiliary officers held an off the cuff discussion of the charges, but no official action was taken.

"We had hoped the article in THE RECORD would wake up the city council, but if this fails I guess a delegation of us should call on the council," the auxiliary officer said.

Sgt. Dave Hansen, regular police officer in charge of the auxiliary, said he had no comment to make one way or another.

lease of the property," said Young.

Original plans were to lay a pipe 800 to 1,000 feet long from the farm lands in the Crocker hills to the Daly City water supply. Crocker estate was to have borne the cost of this operation.

The lake was not drained previously for fear that the lack of water would ruin the crops.

Dead Youths

The two teen-age youths who died from too much water were Larry Swayze, 64 North Ridge road, San Francisco, and Ronald Grimesey, 29 Blythdale avenue, also San Francisco.

Both took a swim in the little lake, accompanied by companions who were unable to save them when they went down.

Attorney Frank Blum has filed a $20,000 claim against the county on behalf of the Swayze family and San Francisco attorney Harold Brown has previously indicated that he will file a similar claim for the Grimesey family.

Judges Choose Entries For Child Art Show

A selection board of eight artists, teachers and critics this week had reviewed some 10,000 works of art by children in preparation for the fourth Young Children's Art Show at deYoung Memorial Museum here.

The judges selected about 400 paintings and three-dimensional art forms to be exhibited in the month-long show, scheduled for September. The show, open to all children under 12 years of age, is the largest evnt of its kind in the nation.

They were injured when a car driven by Mrs. Andersen's husband, Robert, collided with the Strunk automobile. They were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Hit Water Line

Strunk's car careened off Andersen's and smashed into a water line connected to a meter near the intersection. The water department was called in for repairs.

Mrs. Helen Ryan, 46, of San Francisco and Rozelle Reginelli, 32, of 64 Cottonwood drive, Daly City, also suffered minor injuries when their cars collided at the corner of Washington avenue and 87th street in Broadmoor.

In deaths not included in the holiday toll, Flamino Gregori, 225 Second avenue, Daly City, parked his car in front of a friend's home in Cloverdale and died from a heart attack after driving through heavy Bay Area traffic.

Silhouette Goes Soft

THIS ADVANCE FALL STYLE designed by Robert Morton features the softer silhouette in a rich-lustered crepe woven with Celanese acetate and rayon. Sleeves are attractively shirred, and the slim, draped bodice is accented with a cluster of bows and a fern clasp of sparkle stones.

THERE'S A NEW, softer silhouette in the front-line fashion scene for fall. Those much-loved full skirts will continue, but stiffness is giving way to soft-hanging folds, gathers and pleats. With this silhouette, we notice the return of crepes in many textures—crepes woven with acetate fibers to give them rich body, and pleasant-to-the-hand quality that is so important. Typical of the new styles is this junior dress designed to flatter the figure and serve for many occasions from cocktails on to informal dinner wear. (ANS Features)

ity."

DeBernardi was unable to say the exact date for council presentation.

Should the council turn their backs on the proposal, DeBernardi said the independent post office group might try for an election to decide the measure. (It takes 10 per cent of the registered voters to introduce an initiative, DeBernardi said.)

Chamber of Commerce Should Take Charge

City Administrator Dan Andersen's suggestion that local merchants band together to clean the top-of-the-hill of the litter of trash that makes it such an eyesore (see story, page one) is a pertinent one.

Andersen claims that it is the merchants at the top-of-the-hill, rather than the city, who are responsible for the filthy condition of the area. He maintains that the city cleans the streets every morning but that trash from the business firms quickly dirties them.

There is obviously some truth in this matter, but it is an easily corrected situation, regardless of whether the city, the merchants or both are to be blamed.

And this instrument of correction, the group that is made to order for handling situations such as this is the newly-formed Daly City Chamber of Commerce.

This is exactly the sort of priblem for which a chamber is designed to take charge of and cure. Consisting of the very businessmen who have the most to lose—customers—from an unsightly top-of-the-hill, the Chamber of Commerce could and should step in and take over.

Working co-operatively together, its members could undoubtedly arrive at a code of cleanliness for the city's central business district that would be effective and fair to all concerned.

It would also provide the organization with a problem on which to test its strength. A Chamber of Commerce, with a membership made up of those to whom this matter most directly concerns, should be able to take care of this matter with ease.

We leave it confidently in their hands.

Time Has Come To Acquire Thornton Beach

With Daly City ever dickering for parks and means of raising funds for purchasing same, it appears a shame to pass up a natural park at Daly City's back door...Thornton beach.

This 22-acre site promises to be one of the most beautiful potential parks in San Mateo county. It faces on the ocean and has a fine beach as well as an abundance of trees and natural locations for recreation facilities.

Situated but half a mile from Westlake, just off the Ocean highway, Thornton beach is presently under the jurisdiction of the county. As we understand it, the property can be purchased or leased from the county at an extremely low cost.

True, there has been some objection to Daly City spending funds to beautify this area. It is reasoned this is county property and, as such, should be developed by the county for the use of the northend. The argument goes: "We are paying out taxes, why don't we get something for them in the way of recreation facilities up here?"

There is much to be said for this side. However, we must recognize the facts, principally the county neither had the funds nor the inclination to develop this property for a good many years to come. In fact, there is some danger it will be reverted to the state and in turn leased out by the state for a commercial purpose.

During the past two years the pros and cons of the issue have been kicking around on a field where nothing can be decided. It appears to us some action should be taken before it is too late, and this action should stem from the recreation commission in cooperation with the still to be organized planning commission.

Members of the Westlake Property Owners Association also might give this proposition some thought. We can think of no better park for Westlake than Thornton beach.

Crocker Lake Menace Is Ended

They drained the Crocker estate lake this week. The over-grown pond in the hills behind Daly City that drowned two San Francisco teen-agers in the short space of three months recently. As of this writing it is just a mud hole, not too pleasant to look at as compared to the placid-looking waters that were there before—but no longer a death-trap for our teen-agers.

Crocker estate officials are, we feel, to be commended for this action. As THE RECORD insisted in previous editorials, draining the lake was the only certain way to prevent a repitition of the tragic deaths of Ronald Grimesey and Larry Swayze, the two boys who drowned.

The little irrigation-water lake was made doubly dangerous this year because repairs necessitated the closing of the Jefferson Union High school swimming pool, the only place in Daly City where youngsters can go for safe, sane and supervised swimming.

With the high school pool closed, it was inevitable that many local children and teen-agers should turn to pot-holes such as the Crocker lake for swimming. And in view of the lake's well-earned reputation as a merciless killer of unsuspecting swimmers, it was just as inevitable that future drownings would occur.

Now that danger is negated. Not by any half-way measures, such as a guard, or a fence, but in the only way that makes doubly certain that no more Swayzes and Grimeseys will needlessly die.

Doelger Moves To Publicize Daly City

This verbal scuffle between Daly City and its newest child, Westlake, is rapidly becoming past history; or at least this is our fond belief strengthened by sundry observations of conversation with leading members of the two friendly camps.

The latest move to amalgamate the two sections was made in a thoughtful gesture recently by the Henry Doelger Corporation. Devotees of popular music on the radio channels are undoubtedly familiar with the 15-minute spot program sponsored by the Doelger Corporation and Town and Country merchants every Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 9:45 a. m. over KJBS. The shopping center has been located for listeners merely through a description of Junipero Serra boulevard, the Alemany extension and the word "Westlake."

However, in an effort to minimize the differences between Westlake and Daly City the Doelger people are now identifying the shopping center by announcing several times "Westlake IN Daly City." As we understand it a concerted effort also will be made in other types of advertising to prominently connect Westlake with Daly City.

This, we believe, is a small but commendable step which carried to its logical conclusion will afford other sections of Daly City much needed favorable publicity.

Now the next thing to do is to get more and more Westlake residents to associate themselves with Daly City, not San Francisco. Thanks to men like George Pingry and Joseph Verducci this, too, will be realized in the not too distant future.

A New Transportation Method

The southern part of the state—which we will henceforth refer to as the Los Angeles area—is a nice place to visit. Though of course, no died-in-the-wool Peninsulan would consider living there.

But easy access to it is denied by our limited transportation facilities. Despite freeways, new roads and the like, the fact remains that our highways bear too much traffic to make a trip "down south" anything but a chore—a distasteful, tiresome and nerve-wracking one at that.

So the proposal to connect the Bay Area and the Los Angeles area with a multimillion dollar railplane system that would run through the Peninsula is one that bears investigation.

Railplane is an improvement over the old monorail system that has successfully operated in Europe for a good many years. Fifty years without a single accident—monorail's record in Germany—speaks for itself.

Railplane offers the same advantages plus one: tremendous speed. Like the proven monorail system, railplane trains run on an overhead track. There is no cumbrous and unsightly network of bare construction, though, as in New York's famous "elevated."

The simplicity of the railplane method makes so much nonsense out of most objections to overhead rail systems. The speed, better than 200 miles per hour in open stretches, would make a holiday trip to the beaches of Southern California a matter of about three hours.

This rate of travel, and accompanying safety, is made possible by an overhead safety track-railplane's big improvement over monorail.

Monorail carriages are suspended from the track they run on, railplane uses an under-car drive with the overhead track to lock the cars solidly in place. This eliminates the sway that prevented monorail from ever being feasable at high speeds. Another advantage is silence. Railplane has been described as "so noiseless it would be positively dangerous if operated on the ground."

Something like this is definitely what we need as a connecting link between the Bay Area and the Los Angeles sector. The modern Train has just about reached its limit of effectiveness. Our highways are literally jammed with cars, trucks and buses. Something on the line of the railplane would take much strain off our inadequate, antedated road system.

It would cost much money and take much time but, unless half our automobile drivers drop in their tracks tomorrow, we can expect no improvement in the traffic situation without taking some positive step such as this.

When The Law And Wife Object It Is Illegal To Enter Your Home

A man's home may be his castle, but he should never try to storm it when his wife has slammed the door and pulled the draw bridge.

This bitter lesson was learned by a Broadmoor man today who pleaded guilty in Justice Court to breaking into his home last Sunday.

Patrick Holland, 34, 663 MacArthur drive, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, suspended; fined $25, suspended; and placed on six months probation. Sentence was passed by Judge Thomas Bocci who made the suspensions on condition Holland stay away from his wife, separated from him, pending divorce.

It was Mrs. Holland who signed the petty theft complaint against her ex-husband, based on Holland's violation of a restraining order prohibiting him coming near his home.

Police Chief Paul Schmidt said Holland evidently didn't believe in such restraint for Sunday evening the unemployed warehouseman entered through a rear kitchen window of his home. Holland carefully removed the pane of glass, opened the window, entered and then methodically replaced the pane with putty.

With his car parked in the driveway Holland proceeded to empty the house of a percolator, a table model radio, blankets, nine sheets, a set of dishes, cooking utensils, silver plate and canned goods.

While the "moving job" was going on neighbors watched Holland without once suspecting the law took a dim view of a man breaking into his own home.

Mrs. Holland, a nurse at St. Luke's hospital, didn't see the situation like her neighbors. She called the cops, and Monday Holland was arrested in San Jose.

Move Made To Ban Caucus Meetings

Caucus meetings of the Daly City council members soon may be outlawed.

At least this is the hope of San Francisco supervisor George Christopher who has presented the board of supervisors with a resolution calling for state legislation to ban secret meetings by local governmental agencies.

The resolution stated "closed meetings strike at the very roots of our democratic form of government."

Submitted to the committee board for hearing, the resolution may make the ballot in the November state election.

The local city council holds open meetings the second and fourth Mondays of every month and alternate Mondays meets behind closed doors.

DOG BITES BOY

The animal world was still acting up this week, but to a lesser extent than previously.

Wednesday at 2:55 p. m., a dog belonging to Abel Lew, 113 Wyandotte street wandered into Edgewood playground and took an unauthorized nip out of James Kollman, 67 Acton street.

The youngster was taken to Junipero Serra hospital for treatment of a wound on his right leg, and the Daly City pound was notified.

Animal paddocks, aquarium Academy of Sciences, conservatory, music concourse, Morrison Planetarium, Strybing Arboretum, and innumerable other attractions are to be found in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

Truman's Power To Call Up Reserves Now Limited

Daly City men in the military reserve forces can take a breath for the time being—President Truman yesterday signed a bill to limit his own powers in calling up reserves.

The new law separates reserves components into a 1,500,000 man "ready" reserve and a "stand-by" force made up of all other reservists.

In advent of a national emergency, which the president has the power to declare, Mr. Truman could call only the "ready" reserves. Congress would have the approval of how many "stand-by" reserves could be called.

(In other words, if you're in the stand-by grouping, it will take an act of Congress to call you up.)

The new law was designed to end confused speculation on the extent of the president's powers in the matter. Before passing of the new law, Truman could call up any and all reserves at his pleasure.

Now, stand-bys may be called up only in time of war or national emergencies declared by Congress, and only when the reserve of "readys" is exhausted.

In passing the bill, Congress expressed its intent that no Korean veterans should be called back to active duty in an emergency unless there were no other qualified reserves available.

Men who enter the Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force under the present draft law owe the government eight years service—active and reserve.

Bill Katz . . . FROM A CORNER

The Greeks had their forum, the 18th century Englishman his tavern, but for the 20th century harried male the only escape from the incessant chatter of women is the barber shop.

Perched comfortably in the seat of the barber chair, a striped towel majestically draped around his neck and mid section, the average man finds escape from his harried life to discuss various and sundry topics. As the barber hacks away at his locks, or trims the surf around his bald dome, our modern male can turn his mind and voice to horses, week-end husbandry or heinous business deals.

Monitor

Depending on the situation, the barber either acts as chief monitor or sounding board for his customer's worldly opinions. Some of the more garrulous clippers carry on a one-sided conversation and are usually cut immediately by the connoisseur of fine barber shop discussion. It has been reported a barber shop can rise or fall upon the tact and diplomacy of the manager in guiding fine talk.

Reference books are a little dim as to the history of the barber, although they note in ancient days the local beard trimmer often pinch hit for the doctor by letting blood or composing a corpse in a genial position. Then, too, there was a French barber who took to the highways and came close to ending up king of France, but a woman did him at the last minute. A Roman barber did a rare trade in cutting throats of unsuspecting customers, but ended up on a slag pile after an unsuccessful try at snapping the jugular vein of a Roman emperor.

First Barber

The first honest to gosh barber shop opened in America during the Revolutionary war, a few days after Congress ruled out wigs as anti-American. John P. Slugput has secured an honorable place in our history by being the only barber to cross the Delaware with George Washington. He was along for the ride, thinking all the time the rowboat was a ferry.

When we opened the local pubs to women and made the mistake of giving them equal rights, men were forced to the hills or the barber shop. At this stage, about 1920, the clip shop came into its own, and gained wide fame in other communities during prohibition as a front for illegal bistros.

Alarming

With this noble history behind them, it is truly alarming to imagine the fly spattered walls of a barber shop welcoming a woman. Yet, this is the case. More and more of the femmes are invading the sacred halls of conversation behind the guise of taking junior for a hair cut. Actually they could chop off the youngster's hair with a pair of scissors and a mush bowl, but they prefer to spend the old man's hard earned cash as a means of tapping the last masculine outpost.

Consequently, we are all for a state law, much along the lines now governing the sanitary conditions in a barber shop, to outlaw the trespassing of women. It is a sure thing something is going to be done, or the next disasterous step will be mama coming along to see pop gets the right hair trim and in the process check any exhuberant words he may care to spill.

Keith Gardner . . . OFF THE RECORD

Man has long been a boon companion of alcohol but alas, alcohol has not always reciprocated his kindness. Ever since Og drank the barley soup that had been forgotten in a corner months before, we stalwart neo-Neanderthals have found the cup both a blessing and a curse.

So fascinating has been the lure of strong waters to man that famous poets have devoted the major part of their works to praise of it. Yet no one has produced a drink that gives that well-known euphoria without the inevitable hang-over. No one, that is, but the discoverer of gin.

Only Martini

You can hide the stuff in orange juice (Screwdriver), kill its flavor with quinine water (gin and tonic) or drink it straight, but the fact remains that of all liquors, gin is the only one fit for human consumption. And of gin drinks, nothing repeat nothing approaches the Martini.

Martini-drinking does not produce drunkeness as whiskey-drinking or rum-guzzling or other low forms of the art, because the true and proper martini-drinker would as soon be caught inebriated as without his spats and cane. It is a drink for connoisseurs.

Let us record the sequences of events at a martini-drinker's household. This applies to ANY martini-drinker's household, because the art has been formalized with time, like a Japanese tea ceremony. Indeed it is the American counterpart of that ancient pastime.

Typical Evening

The guest arrives shortly before dinner and is greeted at the door by his host. Neither pay much attention to each other or the hostess's announcement that dinner will consist of caviar and filet mignon. They are distracted by the great moment to come. Food, they know, will be a mere anti-climax.

After a few moments of semi-polite chitchat, the host interupts with, "Would you like a cocktail before dinner?" This is a crucial moment for both. The host fears that his guest is one of those uncultured slobs who drink manhattens. The guest fears the same of the host.

All is then made well as the guest answers: "Perhaps a martini, if you don't mind."

Dry?

"A little on the dry side?" askes the host (both are at ease now. Each knows the other is One-Of-Us.).

Now begins the ritual proper. Decanters containing gin and vermouth are produced and appropriate exclamations made over their age, bouquet and color. Then the host wheels out a small cart bearing test tubes, with this equipment he carefully measures five parts of gin to one of vermouth into an ice-filled shaker. The measurements are made with a care and precision that would do credit to a physicist.

Then, with a gentle, rotating motion, he circulates the colorless fluid around the ice until thouroughly chilled. Both are watering at the mouth now in the fashion of a dog with a beefsteak.

Sip-Don't Guzzle

Lastly the stuff is poured into minute glasses and sipped—not drunk, sipped—to the accompaniment of quiet conversation and gentle background music. If he had a few dancing girls and a hookah to puff, the martini-sybarite's pleasure could not be more complete. He has achieved Nirvana.

Of course, this doesn't include those reactionaries who drink it four-to-one, or those vicious radicals who drink it in six and seven-to-one proportions. They are little less than heretics.

Ridgely Cummings . . . HOLLYWOOD

There are so many people in the world nowadays and we come into contact with each other in such multifarious ways that even the most innocent remark one makes can unwittingly be taken as an insult.

As an example, I've just been informed that I am a cruel man. A group of us were sitting around over coffee, orange juice and the normal ingredients of a late Sunday morning breakfast the other day when I picked up the reputation for being cruel.

Usual Topics

Conservation that morning was devoted to the usual Hollywood topics. We kicked around the question of who was divorcing whom, should Ingrid Bergman get Pia, when was Howard Hughes going to open up RKO again, was it worth while for any of us to go over to the Hal Roach studio in Culver City, where they were holding open casting with no agents necessary, even though we were all writers rathr than actors and had no reason to think we might get picked for parts in a TV film, and other similiar momentous questions.

I knew everybody in the group except one girl, a member of the Hollywood Foreign Correspondents Association. This was the first time we had met and she had made a friendly overture by offering to get me in as a member of her association on the strength of these essays appearing in a Canadian paper. I thanked her but said the dues were too high and anyway I didn't think a writer got much from professional meetings and listening to speeches. I added that informal gatherings such as we were having that morning were more rewarding in both information and stimulation.

Floppy Hats

Unfortunately, she interpreted this as a dig at the foreign correspondents, an organization consisting mostly of mature women in floppy hats who hold monthly meetings at Ciro's, during which, judging from the few times I'd attended, they spent their energies exchanging insincere compliments.

The girl relapsed into a sullen silence and the rest of us yapped away in the hearty fashion of people who share similar interests and know each other well.

Sometime later, during a momentary lull, she mentioned she was reading a book by Irving Stone. Nobody rose to the bait so she turned to me and asked what I thought of Stone as a writer.

No Like

"I'm indifferent to him," I admitted.

"Oh, that's because you've never read him," she gushed. "You really must get his 'Lust For Life.' It would be an education for you."

"Thanks," I said.

"You have so much to learn about art." She gave me a superior smile with daggers in it. "If you just did a little serious reading you would be so much broader."

Nobody relishes the implication that he is narrow and ignorant but I reasoned I had hurt her feelings by not wanting to join her correspondents group and was willing to let it pass. However she continued in this vein for several minutes and eventually I became defensive.

"It happens," I said, "that I admire Vincent Van Gogh and Jack London. When Irving Stone's books about them came out I got both of them, 'Lust For Life' and 'Sailor On Horseback'. But I was never able to finish them and I think the fault was Stone's, not mine. I like fiction and I like biography but not mixed up together. He's just not a very good writer."

Comeback

This sort of knocked her for a loop but she recovered and came back strong.

"You didn't give him a fair chance," she said. "If you would get his new book on Toulouse-LauTrec and read it carefully I'm sure you woul profit from it. It's so well written that even a moron would enjoy it."

"Toulouse-LauTrec," I said, thinking out loud. Wasn't he the little hunchback who lived in Parisian brothels and painted the inmates?"

"Oh!" she cried. "I won't sit at the same table with such a cruel man. Come on Cyril, were leaving."

She and the man who had brought her to the coffee klatch left. I watched them walk out with with mixed feelings. I figured the girl was small loss but I'd known Cyril for a long time and was sorry to see him stalk out looking so unhappy.

Killjoy

This incident put a damper on the party and the rest of us dispersed soon afterward.

The next day one of the group called to tell me that the girl had phoned all the others and explained to them that I had insulted Cyril and that was why she had left us.

This is getting kind of long-winded and I had thought I could relate the incident in a few paragraphs, but I still haven't gotten to the point which is that Cyril had been in an automobile accident and his broken shoulder never healed properly. It makes him look round-shouldered and he is somewhat sensitive about it.

Now, as it turns out, Toulouse-LauTrec was not humpbacked at all, but was a dwarf instead, a fact which I remembered later but not at the time. The girl claimed that when I described the little French painter as hunchbacked I was purposely trying to hurt Cyril. By dint of her phone calls she seems to have convinced the others that this is true.

Unthinking

The truth is, of course, that I wasn't even thinking of Cyril when I made the remark. But a man can't win an argument with a women these days, particularly since the telephone has become such a popular instrument of communication and guarantees her the last word.

So here am I, the noblest Roman of them all, laboring under the reputation of cruelty.

It's completely unjust. I wouldn't hurt a fly. Or maybe I would. I'm not another St. Francis of Assisi, who allowed the lice to multiply in his body hair because he didn't believe in being mean to the little beasties by dislodging them. I might kill a fly or a bedbug but certainly draw the line at kicking old friends in the teeth.

I've often heard people remark that its a cruel world but now, from my new-found vantage point, I disagree. The world's not cruel, it's just unthinking. And so was I.

Church News

Presbyterians To Hold Picnic After Morning Services

A church family picnic will highlight this Sunday for members of the congregation of the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church, reports the Rev. John A Glasse, pastor of the church.

Beginning at 1:15 p. m. this Sunday, immediately after the morning worship services, the picnic will be held at San Bruno city park, where a barbecue pit and other facilities have been reserved for the occasion.

The picnic is open to all members and friends of the church. Sunday school children and their parents are particularly invited to attend. Each family is asked to bring its own lunch which will be pooled at the common table.

Soft drinks will be available at cost, said the Rev Glasse, but each family must bring enough food to go around.

Elder John K. LePine of the church was recently elected to the position of Church Treasurer. One of the first elders of the church, LePine was elected to the post unanimously.

Grace Presbyterians Planning To Hold Sacramental Service

Services at the Grace Presbyterian church, Crocker at Winchester streets, this Sunday, July 13, will find the pastor, The Rev. William Harberts offering a special communion meditation in connection with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, which will be administered.

The sacramental service will commence at 11 a. m., Rev. Harberts reports, with Sunday school preceding it at 9:45 a. m.

"What Is Your Life" To Be Sermon Topic

Wiliam H. Moore, director of youth at the First Church of the Master, 5825 Mission street, will offer the sermon this Sunday at 2:30 p. m. on the topic of "What Is Your Life?"

Choirs from various churches throughout the area will be on hand, reports the Rev. Donald Tillman, pastor of the church, for the service, which will begin the church's drive for a "Youth for Christ" rally in this area.

In preparation for the rallies, a car caravan will tour the Daly City-Colma sector Saturday, leaving the church at 1 p. m. to make a circuit of the entire neighborhood.

Talented young people between the ages of 15 and 20 are invited to join the church's now-forming orchestra. Those interested are asked to contact Rev. Tillman at JUniper 5-3556.

Coast County Supervisors Meet

San Mateo county supervisors will join with supervisors from seven other counties in Monterey, July 18, for a meeting to discuss mutual problems.

The officials of the Central Coast Region Association of Supervisors will hear Robert Gros, Pacific Gas & Electric Company executive, in the main address of the meeting.

A highlight will be presentation of a "safe county" award by Franklin Lowney, director of the California Safety council, to the county which has successfully reduced the number of traffic fatalities during the past year.

San Mateo county supervisor Alvin Hatch is president of the organization.

The mineral deposits of Yuba County have produced more than 100 million dollars worth of gold since 1880.

Fund Drive Starts For Holy Angels School and Church

A giant fund drive to finance construction of the new Holy Angels school and enlargement of the church itself to more than double its present capacity will start this week, reports Frank Kelly, speaking for Thomas Callan, chairman of the drive.

Approximately $350,000 will be required to pay the construction bill, he added. The school, designed to handle the first five grades is virtually completed, only interior work remaining to finish it.

The church will require about two more months of work before it is ready. Its present capacity of 220 seats will be enlarged to accomodate nearly 480 persons. It is hoped that both school and church will be completed by early in September, said Kely.

"There are over 2,000 families in the parish," stated Kelly, "and there simply isn't room enough in the church to handle a sufficient number of people. Many on the fringe area of the parish have been forced to go to other churches."

He estimated that donations of about $200 per family, spread over a period of two years or more, would supply the needed money. Parish workers will call on families of the church this Saturday, he added, asking for contribution pledges.

"The church building itself is over 87 years old. It's high time some remodeling and enlarging were undertaken," Kelly said.

For the school, a staff of five nuns of the Order of the Infant Jesus have been brought over from France. Only one other parochial school in the United States is taught by nuns of this order.

Tax Delinquency At All Time Low

Tax delinquency in San Mateo county for 1951-52 stands at 1.2 per cent of the total charge, one of the lowest rates of delinquency on record, Ralph C. MacArthur, county tax collector, reported this week.

The county collected $15,614,096 in taxes, just $179,355 below the total tax charge, MacArthur said.

MacArthur predicted that the county tax charge for the current 1952-53 fiscal year probably will be in the $20 million bracket —highest in history. The charge will not be determined until the supervisors fix the new basic tax rate based on the 50 per cent across-the-board increase in the county property assesments.

Basic county tax rate for the past fiscal year per $100 valuation was $1.88.

DOING THEIR BIT TO BEAUTIFY THE OUTSIDE of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church last Thursday were these five local men who gave their time and energy to putting in cement from the sidewalks to the base of the church on the Wellington avenue side. Leaning on the broom, in the best PWA style, is Tony Ricci recently appointed police commissioner. (Except for the picture, he was busy sweeping). Other members of the crew, left to right, include: Steve Giacovelli, John Giacovelli, Frank Santini and standing, Mario Johnson. Paul Green was chairman of the committee.

Horse Thief Gets 10 Months

A San Francisco man discovered this week that horse stealing is an unpopular form of theft in San Mateo county.

And while John J. Ribero, 28, wasn't given the traditional "necktie party" he received a stiff sentence of 10 months in the county jail.

Superior Judge Edmund Scott also placed him on two years probation.

Ribero pleaded guilty to stealing the horse from a Millbrae pasture two months ago.

Local Wrestlers Win Tag Match Tuesday

The wrestling Sharpe brothers, who reside at 503-B street in Broadmoor when they're not bending ring opponents into pretzels, teamed up Tuesday at the San Francisco Coliseum Bowl.

Ben and Mike met Gino Garibaldi and Enrique Torres in a tag match for the main event. Only one fall was completed in the one hour time limit bout.

That came when Brother Ben pinned Torres with a body press in one minute, three seconds.

Termite Trouble? Burn 'Em Out!

A san Mateo man who recently purchased a home has discovered the perfect way to get rid of termites.

John Venturelli says thus of his method: "Burn 'em out!"

Tuesday night the new-home owner built a fire in his termite-infested garage of old newspapers. When sparks flew up to the ceiling beams, which had been thoroughly infested with termites, he stamped out the fire and left.

Scarcely half an hour later a neighbor called the city fire department when he saw flames pouring out of the roof of the garage.

Firemen prevented the fire from spreading into the house—located at 617 South Humboldt street, but garage and termites were both done for.

The pendulous growth of skin and hair hanging from the throat of moose is called the "bell."

Six Car Burglaries Are Reported Here

Automobiles were evidently the number one target of burglars over the last weekend.

Acting on a report Sunday from the Chalet restaurant, 1913 Junipero Serra boulevard, Officer John Coleman investigated the robbery of seat cushions and other minor articles from three cars parked in a lot next to the restaurant.

Four men and a Daly City juvenile, 16 years old, were brought in for questioning in the matter. The youth was picked up first, Officer Coleman reports, but escaped while Coleman was contacting the four men.

Confessed

Officer Art Linhares later found the 16-year-old hiding at Marchbanks park. He admitted the burglaries upon questioning and was remanded to the custody of juvenile authorities.

Some of the stolen property, according to police, was found on the other men.

Questioned and later released were two local and two San Francisco men.

Hillside Robbery

Burglars also broke into three cars at a lot on Hillside boulevard early on the Fourth. Mrs. S. P. Winters, 847 Hillside boulevard, repotred that three cars belonging to her were broken into during the night.

The thieves got away with batteries from all three cars and a radio from one of them.

STANFORD TO BUILD MICROWAVE LAB

Construction of a $244,000 extension of Stanford's microwave laboratory will begin in a few days on the Stanford campus at Palo Alto. Building plans were announced recently by President Wallace Sterling, following their aprpoval by the university trustees.

The extension will house the "end station" of the billion-volt linear electron accelerator, according to Professor Edward L. Ginzton, director of the laboratory. He added that the accelerator should be complete before the end of the year.

Tots Involved In Many Accidents -- But None Serious

Tuesday was a bad day for the small-fry of Daly City.

It started at 11:50 a. m. when George Bradley, 718 Bellevue avenue, fell on a floor heater and suffered third degree burns on the calf of his right leg. Two-year-old George was rushed to Junipero Serra hospital for treatment.

Eighteen minutes later on Brunswick street, Ronald Santiago, thre years old, went to the same place after getting his left arm caught in the washing machine wringer. Ronald, too, was rushed from his home at 1049 Brunswick to the hospital for treatment.

Turned over to the care of his family physician, Ronald is suspected of having a possible fracture.

Then there was Marilyn Achille four and one half years old, 121 Hillcrest drive. Marilyn fell on the sidewalk near her home while playing and suffered a deep cut in her chin. Two stitches were required to close the wound.

Smallest of the day's injured tots was Russell Kanewske, only 18 months old, of 1855 Swetwood drive. Russell's mother found him playing in front of the house—and coughing.

He was taken to the hospital, a distinct odor of kerosene noticed about him, and then to his family physician. His condition was not judged serious.

Stick-up 'Men' Attack, Rob 12-Year-Old Youth

Two teen-age stick-up "men" attacked and robbed a 12-year-old Daly City boy Tuesday afternoon at approximately 5 p. m.

Paul Black, the victim, 378 Willits street, reported to police that two youths stopped him in the vicinity of the railroad tracks near Westlake avenue and took all his money.

IRENE BEASLEY, of CBS radio's "Grand Slam" fame, can laugh about this now, but at the time it wasn't funny. She'd been given a canary and had to get it a mate. She went to a famous pet shop in downtown New York, chose a bird, and started home with it in a small cage in a paper bag. It was the rush hour—not a taxi in sight, and Irene had to hurry home to attend to "Grand Slam" business. She took the subway; stood up in the midst of a shoving, jostling mob, holding canary well over her head so it wouldn't be crushed. And it sang loudly all the way!

FOR 15 YEARS people everywhere have been listening to "The Guiding Light" on radio; now it becomes the first daytime serial to be seen on television as well, on CBS-TV. Versions and cast members are the same, which is unusual; radio actors are so often cast because their voices are right, though their looks are ludicrously wrong for their roles. Lovely Jone Allison plays Meta White Roberts, with Herb Nelson as her husband, Joe; Susan Douglas is Kathy Roberts, and Lyle Sudrow and Charita Bauer are Bill and Bertha Bauer. The radio version continues on CBS.

JANE MORGAN, the pixillated landlady of "Our Miss Brooks" on CBS radio, is an ex-opera singer in real life, with a magnificent collection of Oriental art as a hobby. She began her career by singing with the Boston Opera Company, where she met her husband, Leo Cullen Bryant, a violinist who became the orchestra's leader. She deserted opera for the stage,touring with such stars as Barbara Stanwyck, then turned to radio. She has appeared on many of the highest-rated radio shows, and gets real fun out of playing the "Miss Brooks" landlady with the sandpaper larynx.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Modern Doors Are Flush

IN THE "gingerbread" style of the early century, doors with ornate panels were considered "just the thing." Modern living has changed this. Today's homemakers prefer their doors without dust-catching panels; they want smooth surfaces that are kept clean without effort.

Leading builders and architects generally specify flush panel doors. Their unbroken expanses are pleasing in appearance and easy to maintain. Such doors also are reasonable in cost. In line with the trend to paint doors interesting colors, flush panel doors are particularly suited for such decoration.

Manufacturers, in many instances, are facing their doors with a smooth-surfaced panel known as Masonite Duolux. Their product is being used in various housing projects, among them the new Levittown, Pa., which s under construction for U. S. Steel Corporation employees at Fairless Works. Here, the 16,000 homes which ventually will house 70,000 persons, ill have flush panel doors faced with Masonite Duolux.

Log Cabin Sundae

MUCH AS PRESENT-DAY LOVERS traditionally confer over an ice-cream sundae, such a confection as this Priscilla might have served John Alden! It might have first appeared in a pewter dish, perhaps, as the pair sat talking at a rough-hewn table in a rustic New England cabin—for topping the vanilla ice cream are two of the New World's earliest native crops, the one imported from the South, the other from the North. Today, of course, maple-blended syrup and peanuts are available and ready for use at arm's reach on the cupboard shelf. Simple recipes such as this have made the latter-day American invention of the sundae a popular home dessert or snack, as "special" looking as it is easy to fix—(ANS Features)

Announce Bargain Days For Fair

Weekdays, Monday through Friday, wil lbe bargain days up to 5 p. m. at this year's San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, which opens August 8 and continues through August 16.

The fair board of directors has voted a special admission price of 50c for daytime attendance, it was announced yesterday by William M. Wilson, fair manager.

Small-Fry Free

General admission for all evenings and all day Saturday and Sunday will be the usual 85c which has prevailed in former years, he said, while children up to 12 will be admitted at all times for 25c. Youngsters under five are admitted with no charge.

The lower afternoon admission price has been set to make it possible for the largest number of people to enjoy the colorful floral displays, garden show and agricultural exhibits, he said, and is in response to widespread demands by the public.

The one admission price, Wilson added, will include all the free entertainment attractions which will include daily concerts, variety entertainers and a wide variety of special events that are expected to tax the capacity of two stages.

A number of features of special inteerst to the housewife and homeowner are also being planned, Wilson added.

Chairman of the Fair admissions and ticket committee is E. O. Bondeson of Belmont.

Sheridan PTA Schedules Picnic

Sheridan P.T.A. will hold its next picnic of the summer at San Bruno Park, San Bruno, on Wednesday, July 16, at 11:00 a.m.

Those who attended the other vacation picnics have had enjoyable times to remember. This is a good way to meet the parents of your children's playmates and to learn what a friendly group make up the P.T.A. of Sheridan School.

Guests from other P.T.A. units will also be most welcome. Mrs. Edward Felker, recreation chairman, and Mrs. E. I. Dreiling, co-chairman, are in charge of the event.

National Begonia Show Slated Soon

For the first time, San Francisco has been chosen host city for the annual National Begonia and Shade Plant Show of the American Begonia Society—the 20th such event.

The show will be held at San Francisco City College, August 30 through September 1, sponsored by the Northern California branches of the Society. These include the San Francisco, Southern Alameda County, Santa Cruz, East Bay, Petaluma, Sacramento and Humboldt branches.

The society's national convention will be held in conjunction with the show which will include exhibits prepared by the begonia, fuschia, gloxinia and African violet societies of the area. The show promises to be the most estensive exhibition of shade-tolerant plants ever held here.

Carl Meyer, general manager of the show, said that in addition to the exhibits by amateur growers, who will compete for more than 100 cash prizes and national trophies, the major commercial growers of this area will participate.

There will be bgonia entries from society branches throughout the United States and a special section will be set aside for flower arrangements, Meyer said.

New Alarm System To Warn Daly City Of Air Raids

A new civilian defense alarm system wil lbe installed in Daly City police headquarters "some time in the next 90 days," reports City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Coming direct from the Alameda county sheriff's office, control point for this area, the system consists of a special telephone dial, connected by a private one-way telephone circuit to the City Hall.

Costing the city exactly nothing (the state CD organization pays) additional installations in private institutions can be made for a $125 installation fee plus $5.25 per month.

Four different alert signals may be sent over the system, Andersen added—yellow, blue, red and white.

In the advent of an air raid attack on the Bay Area, an operator at the sheriff's office would merely dial the "color" of the alert he wished to transmit.

In the box at Daly City police headquarters, a bell will sound a distinctive code ring for the degree of alert, and a light will flash on behind a glass panel of the appropriate color.

The system will provide instantaneous warning for local residents in case of an attack.

Gosland Takes Over Liquor Control

All liquor law enforcement and investigation in the county went under the experienced supervision Monday of Thomas Gosland, Jr., of the Board of Equalization, who will maintain offices in Redwood City.

Gosland has been night chief of liquor law enforcement in the county for the past five years. Previously he was enforcement chief for the BOE in San Jose and Treasure Island, and acting enforcement chief at San Francisco.

He recently completed a swing through the county, contacting all law enforcement departments, to insure closer cooperation between local officials and the board.

A past president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Gosland resides at 548 Elizabeth street, San Francisco.

With headquarters in Burlingame, supervising liquor control officer Earl McCann will be in charge of the wholesale department and off-sale general stores throughout San Mateo county.

New Optimist Group To Meet At Club Casino

The newly-formed Junipero Serra Optimist Club meets today for a luncheon at the Casino club, 6129 Mission street. Purpose of the meeting is to hold a "Get-Together-Day," reports Byron Lewis, program chairman of the organization.

Plans will be laid for the Optimists' Chapter Party, to be held July 26. At the meeting today, each of the club members will be required to give a three-minute talk on his life and business.

At next week's meeting, "Fish On!" a Standard Oil film describing salmon fishing in Alaska will be shown to the club members.

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., established in 1882, is the only futures market for coffee in the nation.

OLD GLORY MEMBERS ATTEND MEETING OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Wednesday evening, President Marie Gehrig of Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044, VFW, attended a meeting of the San Mateo-Santa Clara County VFW councils at Palo Alto. Accompanying her were members Eleanor Cochran and Clara Poket. They reported on the conclave at a recent auxiliary gathering.

Given the place of honor at the meeting was Mrs. Cochran, newly elected department guard.

It was decided at the auxiliary meeting that the organization would not convene during the month of August. In September, a reception will be held to honor Lillian Lickart, president of the 12th district, department-guard Eleanor Cochran and the civil defense chairman and historian of the group.

President Marie Gehrig also attended the meeting in Buri Buri of the VFW Tri-City Fall Festival committee.

Plans for the coming festival were laid at the meeting.

Bonnie Ellenwood, Eleanor Cochran and Clara Poket attended the meeting of the Lake Merced auxiliary No. 9921 on Tuesday in Broadmoor.

Two Local Businessmen Join The Lions Club

At a meeting of the Daly City-Colma Lions club recently, two new members were sworn into the organization by Zone Chairman R. L. Crane.

They are Roy Arneson of the Chevron station, Mission and School streets, and Joe Figueras of Serra furniture company.

Both new members were sponsored by Lion Ira Neville.

Local Man Returns From Far East

Seaman James Silacci, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Silacci of 50 First acenue, Daly City, arrived in San Diego July 1 aboard the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force attack cargo ship USS Union, which has just completed an eight month tour of duty in the Far East.

The ship left the United States in September 1951 enroute to the Orient to begin her second tour.

When hostilities broke out in Korea, the Union was in Far Eastern waters participating in amphibious training exercises and was immediately pressed into service by the United Nations.

She returned from her first tour in November 1950.

City Administrator Plans Vacation Soon

Leaving for the great Northwest July 16 will be City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Andersen, who will be on vacation until August 1, plans to visit his home town of Tacoma and spend additional time in Canada. He will be accompanied by his two sons and his father.

LIONS HEAR TALK BY EMPORIUM OFFICIAL

The Daly City-Colma Lions club got the lowdown on the New Emporium that opens in Stonestown next Wednesday at their weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Colonial restaurant on Junipero Serra boulevard.

Ben Farham, supervisor of infants and children's wear of the giant, new store's dry goods department spoke before the group on the store.

He explained that the New Big "E" will have a total of 650 employees on hand for the opening week of operations and will remain open two nights per week for late shoppers.

Farham was introduced by Arnold Panella, Lion's program chairman.

LOL Holds Annual Convention Here

Daly City's Masonic Hall, 17 Hillcrest drive, was the site of the 55th annual convention of the Loyal Orange Institution July 4 and 5.

Prominent members of the order from many lodges in various parts of the state, were present and a number of important pieces of legislation were enacted during the two-day meeting.

Fourteen past state grand masters were among the delegates seated, and two representatives of the national organization were in attendance.

Presiding at the occasion was Samuel Burton of San Francisco, head of the state organization.

An election of officers for the year was also held, at which Burton was elected to succeed James Kelly, 1951-52 president throughout the state.

Members of the society wound up their meeting with a banquet, entertainment and a dance.

VANDALS BREAK INTO CROCKER SCHOOL

Vandals broke into the Crocker school, 649 Bellevue avenue, late last Wednesday, report Daly City police.

As a reminder of their visit they left paint-smeared walls, overturned chairs and tables, and rubbish strewn generously about the school.

Police are trying to determine the identity of the vandals.

To illustrate the difficulty business men have in obeying control laws, Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) said that in less than 11 months the law department of his company received 2,235 pages of price regulations issued by the OPS.

Ask For Mardi-Gras Type Cable Car Festival

Hotelmen of San Francisco consider the city's cable cars "one of San Francisco's fine traditions and of historical value to the city," and have gone on record as favoring their "continuation and perpetuation."

The association also suggested an annual Cable Car Festival "which would become a traditional celebration along the lines of the New Orleans Madri Gras, and other comparable celebrations held in major cities."

A resolution presented to a meeting of the San Francisco Hotel Association here, adopted unanimously, declared:

"The presently constituted cable car system is vital and important and for the best intesests of all citizens of San Francisco, who have verified this preference by vote in two elections.

"We deem the cable cars to be the major attraction of tourists and visitors to this city, and a preferred means of public transportation for the residents."

Mothers' Club Holds Last Meeting Of The Season

For their last meeting of the season, members of the Mothers' club of Jobs Daughters, Bethel 198, gathered at the home of Mrs. Stella Jensen of Colma, president of the organization.

The season was concluded with a short business meeting at which plans were made to add to the club's treasury with a travelling basket.

Mrs. Jensen will begin the basket on July 16 with a cake which will be sent to Mrs. Florence Kramer, who will in turn pass it to another member.

The schedule was planned so that the basket will have passed through the membership in time for their September readjournment.

Lake Merced VFW Auxiliary Elect Delegates

Lake Merced auxiliary No. 9921, VFW, held their regular business meeting Tuesday evening at the Colma Community Center, and welcomed three guests from Old Glory auxiliary No. 2044. Guests were Eleanor Cockran, Clara Poket and Bonnie Elfinwood.

A delegate and alternate were elected at the meeting to the VFW National Encampment, to be held in Los Angeles in August. Delegate will be Anita Woods, and alternate, Stella Magoon.

Announcement also was made at the meeting that all department officers will act as hostess at the encampment, including Eleanor Cockran of Old Glory auxiliary who will be one of the hostesses.

Dolls which the women of Lake Merced auxiliary made for sale at the encampment have been completed, it was announced. Proceeds from sale of the dolls at the encampment will go to auxiliary benefit work. One will be named, "Miss Lake Merced," the other, "Rosie O'Grady."

Final plans were laid earlier in the week at a committee meeting at the home of Stella Magoon between members of the post and auxiliary for a picnic to be held on August 10 at Flood Park.

Each person in attendance will be asked to bring his or her own basket lunch, and free coffee, ice cream, and pop will be served. Entertainment for both adults and children will include games and races.

Conducting the business, Rose Fisher and Jeean Cuykendall gave a report at the meeting on the recent county council conclave at Palo Alto, which they attended July 2.

COUNTY CHEST SETS GOAL OF $375,440

The Community Chest of San Mateo county has set a goal of $376,440.00 for this fall's campaign, which includes six new agencies, headed by the USO, as announced by Glen O. Smallcomb, president.

The goal was arrived at after extensive budget hearings with each agency. It represents only a slight increase over last year's objective, Smallcomb said.

The local Chest agencies are: Boy Scouts of America, Peninsula YMCA, Sequoia YMCA, Peninsula Jewish Community Center, Family Service Agency, Catholic Social Service, Woodside Youth Activities, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., with three councils, Northern, Central and Sequoia, Community Chest of South San Francisco, Children's Health Home, Council of Social Agencies, San Mateo County Blood Bank and the Visiting Nursing Association of San Mateo County.

Harmless Hand Grenade Shatters Bank Window

A plate glass window in the Bank of America, Colma branch, Mission and San Pedro road, was shattered early Saturday morning by a hand grenade—training type and non-explosive.

According to Daly City police, the vandalism was discovered at 8 a. m. Saturday by a bank messenger who found the window broken while delivering bank mail.

Similarity of the white tail of the antelope ground squirrel, to thewhite rump patch of the pronghorn, gave the animal its name.

Ticket Sale Begins For Village School Barn Dance

Tickets are now on sale for the Second Annual Barn Dance sponsored by the Village Play School, the cooperative nursery school serving Daly City, Colma and adjacent communities.

The barn dance will be held August 16 at 8:30 p. m., Colombo Hall, San Pedro Road, Colma.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the Village Play School who will visit local homes.

Success of their first barn dance last year made it possible for the Village Play School to open its doors for the first time in September, 1951.

In order to reopen this coming Fall, funds are needed to replenish equipment and supplies and to employ a second teacher to assist Mrs. Dorothy Malone of Westlake, director of the school.

Enrollment

The school has also announced that its enrollment is still open for the Fall semester. Any child from two and a half years to school age is eligible for registration, provided that his mother is willing to spend one morning a week at the school as a cooperating mother and to attend one evening class a week, supervised by the accredited nursery school teacher.

All inquiries regarding enrollment should be directed to Mrs. John Tingley at PLaza 5-1480.

The Village Play School is located at the Colma Community Center. Transportation is supplied by various members of the school. Classes will be held in August for the orientation of new mothers into the goals and methods of a cooperative nursery school.

It's Vacation Time For City Officials . . .

It's the vacation season, and city officials feeel that they too have earned a short time off from the cares of the world—or more specifically, the cares of Daly City.

On the vacation list are Police Chief Roland Petrocchi, who is currently in the midst of a relaxing tour of the Russian river country. Chief Petrocchi is expected to return the 17th of this month.

Also missing from the contemporary scene is Daly City Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, who left last Saturday for Clear Lake. Accompanying him are his wife, Maxine, and his two daughters, Diane and Jane.

Just back from a trip to Lake county is Broadmoor Police Chief Paul Schmidt, and leaving next Wednesday is City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Lucky stiffs.

WANDA FORBES TO WED RICHARD ZARR

In a private ceremony to be held Monday afternoon at her parents' home in San Francisco, Wanda Forbes, well known to many in the Daly City area will marry Cpl. Richard Zarr of Munsy, Penn.

The ceremony will be performed by Chaplain McDaniels of the Presidio, San Francisco, where Zarr is currently stationed.

The bride, who attended Balboa high school, will have as her attendant her sister, Winona Forbes. Both will be dressed in blue suits.

Zarr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zarr of Munsy, Penn.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Games were played to the enjoyment of all, following the regular business meeting of the Friendly Neighbors club, which was hostessed by Mrs. Ann Eason recently.

Members of the organization, reports Mrs. I. Blackburn, held a well-attended picnic the previous week at Golden Gate park.

Next meeting will be held on Thursday, July 10, at the home of Mrs. Olga Bordson. At that time, an election of new officers for the coming year will be held.

In Nevada, 59.9 million acres of land are federally owned.

WHERE ONCE THE CHILDREN SWAM now the construction workers swarm. This is the condition at the Jefferson High School pool where the roof is being removed this summer (lower picture) for necessary repairs. Dry rot set in during the past years and consequently the pool had to be closed for the summer months. However, authorities promise the job will be completed for classes in the fall.

MORE LEISURE HOURS WITH COFFEE VELVET PIE

NOW'S THE TIME when you and your family will want to spend more time out of doors. So have your mealtime schedules play second fiddle to outdoor summer activities by preparing this creamy rich Coffee Velvet Pie ahead of time and have it waiting in the refrigerator to bolster a hurry-up dinner.

COFFEE VELVET PIE is a combination of airy-light creaminess and delicious Instant Maxwell House Coffee flavor. It's cool and refreshing, yet provides plenty of food value for easy meals you've fixed in a hurry. You'll like the way instant coffee assures perfect coffee flavor in this dessert—it's so easy to add as an ingredient—and tastes so good!

COFFEE VELVET PIE

1 envelope gelatin (1 tablespoon)
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons Instant Maxwell House Coffee
½ cup sugar
1½ cups milk
2 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Combine gelatin and cold water in mixing bowl. Mix Instant coffee, ⅓ cup sugar, and egg yolks in a saucepan. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture coats spoon. (Do not boil.) Add to gelatin, stir until gelatin is dissolved. Then add vanilla. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Add ¼ cup sugar gradually, beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Fold into gelatin mixture. Then fold in whipped cream. Turn into pie shell. Chill. Garnish with additional whipped cream and chopped maraschinos arranged in a border around pie. (ANS Features)

GREAT-GRANDDADDY GETS A WORKOUT — Marge Forbes (left) and Janet Jackson test this 100-year-old Columbia press, one of three of its kind in the United States, which will form part of the exhibit of the printing industry which the City and County of San Francisco will feature at the California State Fair in Sacramento, Aug. 28-Sept. 7. Discovered in Santa Cruz in 1949, the press is owned by John E. Jones, San Francisco printing equipment firm executive. The San Francisco Club of Printing House Craftsmen is collaborating with the city in arranging the exhibit.

Redwood City To Be Site Of Self-Lighting Cigarette Factory

Redwood City will be the site of San Franciscan Frank Witt's "self-lighting" cigarette factory, it was just announced. Groundbreaking for the factory—first west of Chicago—will begin this month.

Witt's $1,000,000 Commercial Tobacco Corp. plans to turn out a billion cigarettes during its first year. Cigarettes that require no lighter, no match.

A former mining engineer, Witt has invented a self-starter for his cigarette.

The tip of each cigarette is coated with an emulsion that will ignite only on friction contact with a special preparation on the side of the cigarette package.

The rubbing sets off a tiny flame that backfires into the cigarette. By the time the smoker brings the cigarette to his lips, it is burning merrily, without chemical odor or fire hazard.

Witt hopes to sell the self-igniters for 25 cents a pack.

Two Farmers Find Commercial Fishing Pays Dividends

Discover "Marine Gold Mine" Off Morro Bay

A pair of farmer-businessmen from the San Joaquin Valley who obeyed a recent impulse to take up commercial fishing are blazing the trail toward what promises to become a new marine gold mine—the California shrimp fishery.

The prospectors are R. G. Murdock and L. R. West of Tulare, who happily rushed in where conservative commercial fishermen feared to tread. They are being rewarded with $300 a day hauls from the virgin shrimp beds off Morro Bay.

Founded In 1941

Discovered by the California Department of Fish and Game in 1941, and seriously studied by its marine biologists in 1950 and 1951, the off-shore shrimp beds were opened for commercial trawling April 1. Three-year permits were issued under carefully formulated gear and bag regulations.

Although a total of 46 permits have been issued by the Department, Murdock and West aboard the "Grace H.," accompanied occasionally by another Morro Bay boat, are the only men on the coast who have installed the required beam trawl gear and are giving the newly-discovered sea shrimps the best effort they've got.

The five known shrimp beds are scattered in the Pacific at 50 to 100-fathom depths, from Crescent City to Morro Bay.

Marketing

The problem of marketing the small shrimps has stopped other permittees from all-out efforts. California sea food processors have been reluctant to set up special "shrimp lines" of workers to clean and pack the catch. They want advance assurance of steady landings by the fishermen and a steady demand from the retail market.

Displaying their greenhorn enthusiasm, Murdock and West didn't wait for offers from packers. They scouted southern California processors until they got an agreement with Betty Jamieson, operator of a Morro Bay abalone packing plant, and with the American Refrigeration Company at San Luis Obispo.

Both operators agreed to process the Murdock-West catches, and sent their salesmen out to introduce the new California sea food to markets and restaurants throughout the west.

Fast Learners

A year ago neither Murdock nor West knew beans about either the sea or commercial fishing, but they learned fast. So when the fish and game agency opened the shrimp beds, the two appleid for a shrimp fishing permit and kept on learning. They were too inexperienced to wait and see if it was going to become a profitable venture— for somebody else.

West, a rancher in Tulare for 35 years and a tractor and farm appliance dealer also for the past 12 years, got restless about a year ago. He happened to mention his itchy-footedness to his good friend and neighbor, Murdock, who owned and managed a sporting goods and liquor store in Tulare.

Murdock confided that he had recurrent twinges of the same disease. After a survey of new worlds which might need conquering, they decided that commercial fishing might be just right.

"We figured we might like ocean fishing and deep-sea navigating—once we learned some of the tricks," Murdock relates. "So we sold some of our interests, bought the 'Grace H.' and started learning."

Shrimp fishing techniques turned out to be a cinch. "After all, nobody else knows anything about shrimp fishing out here either," They say.

The leopard lizard is said to be a ferocious cannibal, eating other smaller lizards, though harmless as far as humans are concerned.

The California Midwinter International Exposition in San Francisco opened January 1, 1892.

Scouts Get New Swimming Pool

Dedication of a new $30,000 swimming pool will be held this Sunday, 2 p. m., at the San Francisco Boy Scout Council's Camp Royaneh on the Russian rover.

Several hundred scout parents and visitors are expected to be on hand for the occasion which will be celebrated with appropriate ceremonies and an old fashioned chicken barbecue.

The pool is a gift from the trustees of the estate of Lucie Stern, well-known philanthropist and benefactress of youth. In her memory it will be called the Lucie Stern memorial pool.

Delayed

Its construction was begun in 1950, but due to restrictions on critical materials imposed by the National Production Authority, completion of the pool was delayed.

Situated in a sunny area of the camp surrounded by towering Redwood trees, the new pool offers San Francisco scouts outstanding modern swimming facilities in an ideal setting. It replaces the "ole swimming hole," well known to thousands of local boys who have camped at Royaneh during the past 25 years.

A fine example of modern engineering, the Lucie Stern memorial pool is designed to provide safe and adequate facilities where boys can enjoy aquatic sports, learn to swim and receive instructions in life-saving techniques.

The third deepest producing oil well in the United States is in the Cogar field in Oaklahoma, 15,510 feet, completed in 1948.

Captain John B. Montgomery of the frigate "Portsmouth" raised the American flag in Portsmouth Plaza, San Francisco, July 9, 1846.

HIGH SPEEDS AND OLD CARS

High speeds and old cars go ill together, warns the National Automobile Club. If your car or tires have seen long years of service, remmber that defects developed through these long years can mean sudden death at high speeds.

Be alert for children playing in the street, advises the National Automobile Club.

Marchbanks Parks And High School Host Stiff League Competition

Stiff competition—with an accent on the "stiff"—continued in teen-age baseball league play in the city last week. On top of the league at this writing are the Daly City Giants and the Daly City Seals.

The Giants clashed Tuesday, July 1, with the Cubs at Marchbanks field and, behind the flawless pitching of Ray Rosa, dropped their opponents 3-0 in a fast-paced game.

The strong Giant nine was held scoreless until the sixth inning when the roof fell in on Cub hurler Ty Teijero. When the smoke of battle cleared the Giants had scored three runs on two hits, a walk and two errors.

Darryl Hutchinson's big bat paced the winners with a double and a single. George Bernaseconi's single in the fourth frame for the Cubs ruined Rosa's bid for a no-hitter.

Meeting Thursday, July 3, at the Marchbanks field, the fresh-from-a-triumph Giants met the Tigers.

Player manager John Madden handled the pitching chores for the Giants and allowed only three hits in his seven inning stint. The Giants ended up by walking off with another one; score—7 to 2.

Timely hitting by Langersand, Willie Nieve and Bill Stiff accounted for the Tiger runs.

Hitting stars for the Giants were Rosa, Lyman, Earnshaw and Gaggero.

But all the teen-age league play doesn't go on at Marchbanks. Down at the high school field the same Thursday that the Giants were romping over the Tigers, the Daly City Seals were playing their own tune on the Caddies.

The Seals walked off with the game by a score of 6-2. Tom Costello's fine pitching allowed only four scattered hits, and the man also helped win his own ball game by rapping out an important hit in the second frame.

The Seals have now won two games and lost none. A much better record, it might be added, than their San Francisco namesakes.

Games scheduled for next week or for too late this week to be reported in THE RECORD include:

Tigers vs. Caddies, 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, July 15 at Marchbanks. Seals vs. Cubs at the same time and place on Thursday, July 17. Seals vs. Giants Tuesday, July 8, at the high school diamond.

Another winner last week was the Daly City Seals, who took an automatic 9-0 win over the Cubs with a forfeiture.

BETTORS PROVIDE SPORT FOR ANGLERS

The first fish and game conservation project to be completed with pari-mutuel funds provided by the California Wildlife Conservation board is now in business.

It is the Fish Springs hatchery in Inyo County, which today is well on its way toward producing its first annual quota of one million catchable-sized trout.

Seth Gordon, director of the Department of Fish and Game, accepted a symbolic key to the new hatchery from Board Chairman Paul Denny during dedication ceremonies held June 27. The presentation followed a regular business meeting of the Board.

The $400,000 installation was financed with Wildlife Board funds, and will now be operated by the Department. Six permanent employees will look after the twin 1,700-foot series of rearing ponds, containing nearly one-and-a-half million gallons of spring water.

Sarto AC Takes To The Road To Win

Not content with winning ball games from local teams, the Sarto AC club now hits the road to spread its talents over a wider area, leaving some unhappy opponents behind for the most part.

Last weekend the Sarto nine were off to Williams, Calif., a little town not far from Colusa (if that's any help).

After traveling 140 miles or so, they climbed out of their cars, stretched the kinks from their legs, and proceeded to give the Williams' Merchants a 13-3 drubbing.

On the mound for the first eight frames was Tito Sarto, who granted the shameful total of one hit and no runs during his hurling stint. Tito retired for the last inning and let Lanzio take over for one inning.

The Wiliams boys found their eye just about that time and grabbed off three in the last inning. Not that it made much difference in the final tally.

This Sunday, that's July 13, the Sartoites are off to Marchbanks field, a relatively short distance away, to play the Moffat-Manteca Beef nine.

Daly City Teen-Ager Gets First Hole-in-one

A 14-year-old Daly City youngster, Richard Gonzales, wandered out to the San Francisco Golf Club the other day to play a round or two, and along about the 15th hole — a 140-yarder — he let fly with a six iron and garnered his first hole-in-one.

Witnesses to the shot were Vernon Waligora, Walter Roger and Allen Mater.

Marchbanks Playground

By Leslie Linhares and Frank Ingersoll
Playground Directors

On Wednesday of last week Marchbanks was host to the picnickers from all Daly City playgrounds. Over two hundred turned out for this special event. A radiant sun greeted the visitors on their arrival. In a matter of minutes all three levels of the Park were in full swing. The upper level was devoted to the 9-11 age group. There youngsters participated in such sports as dodge ball, net ball, take away and base ball.

The agile dodging of Skip Crudo, Roger Stahl, Charles Peters and Mary Viallta enabled their team to come out on top. On the lawn of the middle level the small fry, 8 years and under, enjoyed various relays, farmer in the dell and like games. Dennis and Sandra Nelson, Parry Peters, Richard Sebastiani and Kathy Dahl enjoyed themselves here.

Meanwhile on the baseball diamond the older children were running relays, playing volley ball, basebal land folk dancing. Two outstanding members of this group were Darrow Hall, who distinguished himself by his speed in the 50 yard dash and Helen Cava, star volley ball player. Some other participants in this group were Charles and Sue Bridges, Joan Malloy and Sharon Lynch.

The afternoon was spent using up the energy obtained by hot dogs, cold drinks and watermelon. As the sun moved westward, every one struggled homeward with the thought of this happy day behind them.

STAMP CLUB

The newly organized Stamp Club held its first meeting on Tuesday, July 1. The first business on hand was election of officers. The many able candidates made voting difficult for the members, but the final outcome was as follows: Anthony Stagnaro, president; Michael Brush, vice president; Larry Kane, secretary; Joan Perotti, treasurer. The remainder of the meeting was spent in discussing the set-up of the Club. All future meetings will be held at 2:30 on Thursdays. All are invite dto join.

GIRL OF THE WEEK

Carole Ann Cunningham of 62 Theta avenue was chosen as "Girl of the Week." Carole is a daily attendant at Marchbanks. She joins in all games and shows good sportsmanship no mateer what position she plays. Her cheerful smile is always present and her willing hands ready when any help is needed.

Swimming is Carole's choice as a favorite sport. She is also fond of horseback riding and baseball. When she isn't at the Park our "Girl of the Week" is busy with her movie star collection. Social studies and veal cutlets also have a special place in this 10-year-old's life.

The teaching profession is what Carole aspires to and we wish her all success in all her dreams.

BOY OF THE WEEK

Eleven year old Billy Magee is this week's "Boy of the Week" at Marchbanks playground. Billy was the unanimous choice of the directors due to his untiring effort to make the playground a better place to play. An outstanding leader and good sportsman, Billy is a fine example of good citizenship.

Baseball is Billy's favorite game with basketball and football close seconds. In addition to sports Billy likes reading, stamp collecting and fried chicken. When he has completed college, Master Magee hopes to make ranching his career.

Joe Stagnaro was runner up in this week's contest. Always ready to lend a helping hand, Joe is a strong contender for next week's award.

Jefferson High Playground

By Marge Erickson and L. H. Reese

Last week several new activities were started at the High School Playground. Folk dancing classes wil lbe held every Tuesday and Thursday for the remainder of the summer. Some of the enthusiastic folk dancers who have already started are Norma Ann North, Margaret Cheatham, Delores Ann Spinetti, Joann Spinetti, Darlene Banfield. The older group dances at 10:30. Sharon Lynch, Carol Ann Cunningham, Joan O'Keefe and Joan Malloy have been regular attenders in this group.

Tuesday and Thursday finds the gymnasium full of eager badminton players. There are so many that the boys and girls wait their turns to play. But they are all learning to serve and eep score and will soon be playing regular games. Gerry Kennedy, Ron Kalinin, Gerry Bertetta and Dan Micheletti are a fed of the boys and girls who have been learning the rules of badminton.

The tennis group is still small and more are invited to join. The group meets every Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p. m. Jeanette and Charlotte Dulis have been bringing their tennis rackets and practicing each afternoon. We hope the class will grow larger in the future.

Wednesday a large group enjoyed an excursion on the bay and a tour through Fisherman's Wharf. After lunch there was a short walk to the marine Museum at Aquatic Park where the boys and girls saw many interesting exhibits of old ships.

The Brisbane Varsity basketball team defeatd Jefferson by a score of 40-12. Jefferson's lightweights however turned the tables on Brisbane by a score of 20-12. Lineups for the teams were as follow:

Jefferson Varsity-12

Tom Costello, F; Bud Francis, F; Al Figone, C; Richard Watso, G; Wesley Yates, G.

Brisbane Varsity-40

Larry Blanchard, F; Jerry Yarborough, F; Don Delbon, C; Leo Villar, G; Burl Beal, G; Don Rose, G.

Little Fishermen To Try For Big Fish With Help Of Lion Clubbers

Preparations are all completed and sign-ups are expected to continue rolling in right up to the last minute for the Daly City-Colma Lions club-sponsored free fishing day at Lake Merced.

The big day is next Wednesday, July 16, when more than 150 youngsters between the ages of 9 and 17 are expected to take advantage of the Lions' offer of food, transportation and tackle at the lake. Fishing will begin at 8 a. m. and continue through 2 p.m.

Prizes

"The big attraction," said Joseph Belli, Jr., chairman of the outing, "will be the prizes offered for the longest fish caught. First prize is a reel, second prize a rod and third a line. The prizes are compliments of Gamble's Western Auto Supply of Daly City.

Registration for the angling outing can be made at any playground throughout the Daly City-Colma area, he added.

Transportation to and from the lake will be furnished by the Lions, who will pick up the hopeful anglers at the various playgrounds, take them to the lake, supervise their fishing, and return them to the point of departure.

Bait, tackle, lines and boats will be furnished by Jim Fox of the Daly City Rod and Gun club.

Refreshments

The small-fry and teen-age anglers are asked to bring their own sandwiches, said Belli, but the Lions will furnish additional refreshments, including milk and ice cream.

Judges for the "Longest Fish Contest" will be Belli, Fox, and Hal Willis, president of the local Lions.

The Lions will hold their weekly meeting at the lake the day of the fishing excursion, rather than at their regular meeting place. A buffet lunch will be served them.

A sound truck and loud-speaker will be furnished for the outing through the courtesy of the Marin Dell Milk company.

Lawsons Diner, Fire Department Win Two Close Softball Games

by Joe Ballarin

In the most short snappy game of the Adult Softball league thus far, Lawson Diner defeated Plumbers Club last Tuesday by a score of 9 to 7.

With pitcher Roger Beatty delivering his low and slow-slung ball, the Lawson team showed what it was worth. Bill Bedmon hit a homer bringing in the two men on base for Lawson, and a fast doubl-play followed retiring the side at the end of the second.

Tom Tromborg of the Plumbers reciprocated in the third inning with a home-run, with two men on, and momentarily his team led 6 to 5.

But it wasn't long before Al Garrissere's Lawson team obtained and kept the winning margin.

At the same time as the above game, the Daly City Fire department challenged Sterling Park. Jimmy Gallagher was on the mound for the fire-house boys and it was looking bad for Jim in the fifth with Sterling leading 4 to 3.

At the top of the sixth, up to the plate stepped Lawrence Kennedy, Sr., and hit the home run of the day with the bags loaded with Al Figone, Gil Fontana and Chuck Mayard.

The score then became 7 to 4. The final tally evolved as 8 to 7 with the Fire department victor in a game which had to its credit, about ten hits, four errors, and six walks for each team.

Two more Adult Soft-ball games were about to start. It was July 1, 6:30 o'clock in the evening, and the Colma Fire department was out to win its second league game against Sterling Park.

What with Riccomi, Sanguinetti, Giannini, Pedemonti and Masini on the Colma team fighting hard against Gary Bookout's "Sterling Club," the spectators weren't sure what to expect.

The seven innings of play were good fast ball and at the end both teams had done nicely. Only one team could win however, and that was the Colma Fire department, under the persistent management of Ken Gollehan. The score 19 to 7. This puts Colma Fire at the head of the league, thus far, with two wins and none lost.

On the upper field of the same night, the Lincoln Lions were panting, slugging, running, sauntering and playing against the Daly City Fire department.

With Lawrence Kennedy as catcher-manager of his club, Daly City was the victor by 10 to 6. On the winning club were Frank Mecchi, Dick Kalinin and B. Kalinin, Gallagher and Miller, Murphy and Figone to mention some. These boys have lost one and won one and their victims, the Lions, have lost two out of two.

This is only the start of the league. Come out and cheer for your team:

July 10 21 Club vs. Lincoln Lions. July 15-Lawson Diner vs. Colma Fire. July 15-21 Club vs. Sterling Park. July 17-Lincoln Lions vs. Plumbers.

Local Scouts Prep For Summer Camp Outing Soon

Many a Boy Scout from the Daly City area will be heading for the San Francisco Boy Scout Council's Camp Royaneh on the Russian River soon.

Enjoying to the hilt the scout's traditional role as an outdoorsman will be the troops and their members listed below:

Troop 48, sponsored by the Westlake Improvement association, will be at camp for two weeks, leaving July 20. Albert Wilson is scoutmaster of the troop. The following scouts are registered:

Richard Carlson, 80 Lynnewood drive, Daly City; Larry Cambor, 18 Cliffside drive; Charles Nouque, 37 Wilshire avenue; Henry Shain, 60 Lynnewood; Christopher Leslie, 20 Forest Grove; Ronald Kriese, 78 Lake Forest; John Rossovich, 101 Fairway drive.

Troop 249, sponsored by the Bellevue Parents clubs and under the direction of Edward Plummer, scoutmaster, will leave for camp July 27 for a one-week stay. The scouts are:

John and James Finley, 479 Hillside boulevard; Leonard Lamendolla, 382 Willits street; Philip Delucchi, 241 Oliver street; Lane Calvin, 222 Whittier street; Nicholas Shehadi, 32-A Westlake avenue (Nick is from Troop 113); Garth Saladi, 963 Cassandra; Frank Lovano, 44 Bellevue avenue; Ronald Moneeleoni, 667 Hanover street.

New Swimming Pool

The local youths wil ltake full advantage of Camp Royaneh's new $30,000 swimming pool which will be opened this Sunday with ceremonies and an old fashioned chicken barbecue. Several hundred scout parents and visitors are expected to be on hand.

A gift from the trustees of the late Lucie Stern, well-known philanthropist and benefactress of youth. It will be called the Lucie Stern Memorial Pool in her honor.

Situated in a sunny area of the camp, surrounded by towering Redwood trees, the new pool will offer the Daly City area scouts outstanding modern swimming facilities in an ideal setting.

It replaces the "old swimmin' hole" well known to thousands of local boys who have camped at Royaner during the past 25 years.

The pool is designed to provide safe and adequate facilities where boys can enjoy aquatic sports, learn to swim and receive instructions in life-saving techniques.

PARTY BOAT ANGLERS LAND 3.5 FISH EACH

California's off-shore party fishing fleet, manned by 34,900 sportsmen during the month of April, landed a total of 123,800 fish. The anglers took home an average of 3.5 fish per trip.

The marine fisheries laboratory of the California Department of Fish and Game announced that half the month's total catch was composed of rockfish, kelp and sand bass. Operators of 222 party boats reported landings of 8,200 barracuda, 7,100 salmon and 6,300 each of kingfish and yellowtail.

About 1,700 more anglers took to the sea this April than last—but still less than the 48,700 who fished in April, 1950, and the 68,000 who got aboard in April, 1949.
